NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Chicago 24; Princeton 15.
That Chicago is one of the strongest contenders in the Y. M. C. A. basketball league, was demonstrated last night, when the Midway team defeated Princeton by the score of 24 to 15. After losing the first three games of the schedule, Chicago has shown a reversal of form and won its last four, making it now only one full game behind the leaders.

Last night's game was fast from the start. Princeton started out like a winner, but could not keep the pace, although coming back strong in the second half. In this session the goal was found with great regularity by the Chicago five and after its scorers machinery got started there was no stopping. Three teams were tied for second place and Chicago won the coveted honors by pulling the game from the Tigers. Illinois meets Cornell tomorrow evening and after that contest two teams will be tied again for second honors and two will rank equally for third.

DONLIN GETS CHANCE

Old Offender Permitted to Leave City Upon Promise To Reform His Ways.

HOLDS LONGEST RECORD.

Although he plead guilty to the charge of public intoxication and five previous convictions in the last year, John Donlin was not sent to jail. Judgment was suspended and he was permitted to leave the city. Donlin has served more time in jail for drunkenness than any other man in the county. He is a slave to the habit and the police assert a jail sentence never has any effect upon him. As soon after release as he can obtain the money, he spends it for intoxicants. Donlin promised the court to leave the city and take a job in the automobile factory at New Castle. The man is regarded as a first class machinist, but unable to leave whiskey alone.

Caroline Kirkland, in her book on "Some African Highways," writes of night in the dark continent: "There is nothing so black as the African night, and I think it is because the earth, being a deep red, offers no reflection to the faint starlight, such as we get in other lands. Instead it swallows up what slight glow there may be, and gives to the darkness a dense, velvety quality not to be found anywhere else. Overhead the stars glare more brilliantly than in northern latitudes, but they seem to cast no light, and the night is palpable, suffocating, appalling and filled with a nameless horror which is quite indescribable."

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

In Sampson Trial, Feud Between Family and Young Wife Shown.

BITTER HOSTILITY SHOWN

Lyons, N. Y., April 8.—The feud between the family of Harry Sampson and his wife Georgia, was brought out in court today when the father, mother, sister and brother of the dead man were witnesses. They showed bitter hostility toward the wife of Harry Sampson, admitting unhesitatingly that they had refused to see her when they went to the Allen house after they heard of Harry's death.

Earl B. Service testified as to the meeting between Georgia Sampson and one, Robert Manson. Mildred Service told of the trips she and Mrs. Georgia Sampson had made out of town and that they met George Wilson, who is supposed to be the mysterious "George," whose letter is supposed to have caused the tragedy.

PHYSICIANS HAVE A HEATED DEBATE

At Meeting Yesterday the Bulla Case Was Up for Consideration.

PUBLICITY IS AVOIDED

BESIDES DR. BULLA, FORMER PROSECUTOR JESSUP AND JUDGE FOX ARE REFERRED TO IN A RESOLUTION.

Resolutions drawn up by the board of censors of the Wayne County Medical society, dealing with the prosecution of Dr. J. M. Bulla, for alleged malpractice, and the actions of former Prosecuting Attorney, Wilfred Jessup, and Judge Fox in dismissing the case, were read at the star chamber session of the society in the library yesterday afternoon. The question did not come to a vote and on the surface it appears as though the society desires to drop the matter with as much haste as possible, but still in a manner which would not reflect on the dignity of the society.

Don't Want Publicity.

It appears that the physicians who were responsible for the resolution being drawn up, do not desire any publicity of the case. At the session yesterday a reporter was removed from the meeting, because a few of the physicians stated it would not be proper for one to be present. A full report was promised today, but owing to the absence of Secretary A. L. Bramkamp from the city, it could not be obtained. Several other leading physicians were called upon. Dr. Johnston, one of the censors, refused to give out any information, other than the resolution had been referred back to the censors. Dr. Charles Bond, president, president of the society, to whom the reporter had been referred by other members as the proper person to get the report from, in absence of Dr. Bramkamp, stated that he knew nothing about the case and said that Dr. Bramkamp was the only one from whom information might be secured.

Terms of Resolution.

But one physician could be found, with the exception of Dr. Bond who would refer to the affair. He declared that the resolution dealt with Dr. Bulla, Wilfred Jessup and Judge Fox, who presided over the case. Nothing derogatory to the character of the latter two was contained in the resolution, but the prosecutor was blamed for moving to dismiss the case and Judge Fox was blamed for upholding him and instructing the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty. The resolution stated that the merits of the case did not come before the jury. The resolution does not mention the name of Dr. Marvel, the prosecutors source of information. It was because of the failure of Dr. Marvel to testify on the stand as he did previously to the prosecutor that caused Mr. Jessup to move to have the case dismissed. No vote was taken on the resolution yesterday.

It is stated that the discussion was full of pepper and ginger. It is stated that Dr. Bulla was on his feet many times in his own defense. Dr. Johnston was a leader, according to one of the physicians, on the other side. Dr. Bond stated at the close of the meeting that at the next meeting "there would be less fuss and more fire," but Dr. Bond stated today that this referred to another subject, which would be discussed at the May meeting.

GRIEF AND GREED.

Sorely Afflicted, Yet He Kept an Eye on the Main Point.

The following communication was recently addressed by a grief-stricken German husband to the secretary of a life insurance company in Germany:

"Sir—Deeply afflicted, I take up my pen to inform you that my dear wife, Anne Maria, nee L., insured in your company for the sum of $750, has suddenly died, leaving me a victim to the deepest despair. This grievous blow fell on me this morning at 7. Kindly endeavor to let me have my insurance money as promptly as possible. The policy bears the number —, as you will find by reference to your books. "I may say very seriously and in all sincerity that she was a faithful wife and an admirable mother. In order that all formalities may be settled with promptitude I inclose herewith a certificate officially recording her death. "Her illness was but a short one. Nevertheless she suffered intensely, which naturally renders my grief all the more poignant. I have no doubt that you will afford me partial consolation by sending on the insurance money as promptly as possible. "In return I hereby formally promise to have my second wife insured in your company for $1,500, double the sum for which my defunct darling was insured. "My grief is immense, yet the conviction that you will afford me consolation sustains me during this terrible ordeal. In the hope that we shall soon draw our insurance money, my children join me in," etc.—Exchange.

If a novel bill introduced in the New Jersey Senate by Mr. Leavitt becomes a law, any person thinking himself insane or about to become so, will have a right to go to any of the State asylums and, upon application to the medical director, be admitted for treatment. Another bill of Mr. Leavitt's provides for the commitment of confirmed inebriates to insane asylums. Both bills were introduced at the request of Dr. Henry A. Cotton, medical director of the State Hospital for the Insane at Trenton.

CAME ON THE JUMP.

A Signal That Brought the Busy Waiters in a Body.

To get a waiter quickly in a big cafe is at times very difficult, but a Germantown man recently learned a method from a New York friend which is guaranteed instantly to bring not one but several waiters. This Germantown man was giving a dinner in one of Philadelphia's swiftest cafes, with the New Yorker and two women as his guests. After a long delay a waiter came and took the order. Then one of the women decided that she must make a change in her order. The host signaled one waiter after another without avail. After about ten minutes of violent gesticulating on his part the New Yorker said:

"You don't know how to attract their attention. I'll bet you $5 I can bring a waiter to this table within thirty seconds."

"I'll take the bet," said the Philadelphia man, drawing out his watch. The New Yorker reached over into the middle of the table, picked up a thin, delicate glass and deliberately dashed it to the floor. Instantly every waiter in the room came rushing up to see what was the trouble.

"Charge one tumbler up on the bill," said the New Yorker laconically, "and change one of those oyster orders to Blue Points."

As the waiters dispersed he added, "I guess you owe me a five spot, old man."—Philadelphia Record.

Fishing Snakes.

While fishing in the Fort St. George moat, at Madras, a correspondent of Country Life saw a snake fifteen inches long come out of the water with a fish in its mouth. On catching sight of the writer it dropped the fish and bolted, leaving the fish on the bank alive. On another occasion, while fishing in a reservoir near Ghazabad, he again saw a snake emerging from the water with a fish in its mouth. This snake was about twenty-four inches long, and on killing it he was able to identify the fish as a common species of Indian fresh water fish. Later on he saw a viper, nearly four feet long, lying in shallow water. The writer hooked it ashore with his tackle, upon which the snake attacked him, leaving a large yellow fang in his fishing rod.

LINCOLN'S HOUSE.

An Occasion When He Did Not Recognize It at First Sight.

"Mrs. Lincoln played a good joke on her husband when he was practicing law and journeyed about from court to court on horseback," says Major Bittinger. "Those trips often took several weeks at a time."

"On one of these trips Lincoln was gone for about four weeks. He returned late one night. Stopping his horse, he dismounted at the usual place. He turned to go into the house and then stopped. Although he was a man of temperance, he thought he must have been imbibing on the sly some time that day, for before him stood a building he had never seen before. He thought it over for a minute and then went across the street and knocked at a friend's door. They were in bed, and some one sang out: "Who is it?"

"Abe Lincoln," was the reply. "I've been looking for my house. Can you tell me where it is? Guess I must have been lost. I thought I was just across the way. When I went away the building was one story high, and now it is two."

"It was explained to him that during his absence Mrs. Lincoln had added another story. He laughed and went back to the strange house."

He used to tell the joke on himself many times, according to the major.—National Magazine.

CONTINUOUS SHOWS.

They Were Started by B. F. Keith in a Boston Store.

It was in the month of January, 1883, that Mr. R. F. Keith, who had been studying the show business with far-seeing eyes for many years, presented, in a store that he had leased in Boston, the first continuous show ever seen on any stage. He paid his performers $20 a week for a single turn and $40 for double and required them to give eight or nine turns a day. His "top liner" or chief attraction was a pound and a half baby. The doors of his playhouse were thrown open at noon, and from that time until half past 10 at night the performance went on without interruption.

Patrons were allowed to spend the entire day in the theater, and at first so many availed themselves of this opportunity to get a substantial filling of amusement at a small cost that Mr. Keith realized that he must either abandon the idea of a continuous entertainment or else invent some method by which the audience could be driven out of the building and place made for those outside who were waiting for admittance. Necessity was the mother of invention, especially when it is mated with sharp Yankee wit, and it was thus that what is known as "the chaser" came into the world.—James L. Ford in McClure's Magazine.

Chicago's council finance committee has discovered that the way to economize is to economize. It recently ordered the abandonment and sale of all city automobiles except those used by the chiefs of the fire and police departments and their assistants. Now, when other officials who have been used to motorcars find one absolutely necessary, it will be hired. It is figured that the tidy sum of $30,000 a year will be saved by the change.

The great demand for apple wood, for the manufacture of saw handles, has been appreciated by the large number of farmers who have lost their orchards through the ravages of the San Jose scale. Buyers have been going through New Jersey making tempting offers for the timber. In some cases farmers have found it more profitable to cut down old trees that are not prolific rather than depend on an uncertain crop in the future. Several carloads of butts have been shipped in the last few weeks.

King Edward possesses several distinctions not known to the man in the street. He is actually a clergyman, being a prebendary of St. David's cathedral, Wales, receiving a salary of $5 a year, which entitles him to preach a sermon in the cathedral pulpit. He is a barrister, having been called to the English and Irish bars. The Royal College of Physicians made him a member some years ago, and the Royal College of Surgeons has also given him permission to append the initials F. R. C. S. after his name.
